Why should you start saving early?

Both Maria and John retired at age 65. Maria started saving for retirement at age 25 while John waited until age 45. See the difference in their retirement balance below.

Maria, 25
Salary: $30,000
Contributions: 3% ($37.50/paycheck)
40 years: $111,529

John,45
Salary: $60,000
Contributions: 3% ($75/paycheck)
20 years: $61,057

Values assume 24 pay periods per year and a 5% annual rate of return.

- Out-of-pocket dollars
- Savings total at age 65

This example is hypothetical, does not reflect the return of any specific investment and is not a guarantee of future income. Income taxes payable upon withdrawal. Federal restrictions and a 10% federal early withdrawal tax penalty may apply to withdrawals prior to age 59½. Remember investing involves risk including the possible loss of principal. Fees and chargers, if applicable, are not reflected in this example and would reduce the results shown.
